Museum of bags and purses

Guided tour through the largest collections of (exclusive) bags and purses. Every bag has its own story. It tells us something about the fashion, art, skills and customs of a particular period. Uncover the rich history of this everyday item at the Museum of Bags and Purses.

In a magnificent 17th century canal house, part of the UNESCO World Heritage Canal Ring Area of Amsterdam, you will unlock the history of the bag from the Middle Ages to the present day. This is the only place you will find so many special and exciting bags under one roof. From unique historical items to timeless classics produced by world famous brands and up-and-coming designers.

Nine Streets of Amsterdam

The quaint and quirky streets that straddle Amsterdam's grandest canals form the city's most photogenic little neighbourhood. Known to locals as De Negen Straatjes or 'The Nine Streets', this special neighbourhood is full to bursting with vintage and designer shopping, speciality stores and cosy cafés.
